Hello Tom,

In the distant past I provided AutoCad files on disk for construction drawings at Westpoint Harbor (in addition to the hard copies), but BCDCC did not have the ability to read AutoCad (the exception was the DRB). I only have "job site" copies of the drawings which are wet-stamped for Redwood City, so I made a new disk with drawings in PDF format so you can easily use them. I posted the Site Preparation Drawings and the Harbor House drawings on the disk today to your attention. You will notice the Site Prep drawings are "as-built" drawings provided by the contractor.

The Dock Drawings (titled "Westpoint Marina") are more complicated and Bellingham Marine is converting them to PDF files now, and will post them so they can be accessed electronically. I expect that will take a day or two.
